

Forever Friend

I can catch you when you're falling,
I can hold you when you cry,
I can be your friend for ever,
Though I do not tell you why.
I can wipe away the teardrops
as they tumble down your cheek;
I can be there each new morning,
every day in each new week.

For I am your forever friend,
I will love you until the end;
until the seas have all run dry,
and no more stars light up the sky.
I'll be your forever friend.
Yes, I'll still be there to love you
Till the moon has gone away,
I will be your friend forever,
When forever comes to stay.

I can wipe away the teardrops
as they tumble down your cheek;
and I'll be there each new morning,
every day in each new week.

*For I am your forever friend,
I will love you until the end;
until the seas have all run dry,
and no more stars light up the sky,
I'll be your forever friend.*

*Until the seas have all run dry,
and no more stars light up the sky,
I'll be your forever friend.*
