

What Did You Mean?

I hear music in the distance,
Words are forming in my head;
I want to tell you that I love you,
But different words come out instead.

*What did you mean when you said you didn't love me,
Which you whispered when you walked out through the door?
What did you mean when you said it didn't matter,
If we couldn't be together any more?
If we couldn't be together any more?
What did you mean, what did you mean?*

When I wake up in the morning,
Turn to find an empty space;
I want to tell you that I love you,
But different words come in their place.

*What did you mean when you said you didn't love me,
Which you whispered when you walked out through the door?
What did you mean when you said it didn't matter,
If we couldn't be together any more?
If we couldn't be together any more?
What did you mean, what did you mean?*

Now the music's playing faster,
Louder still now we're apart;
I want to tell you that I love you,
And that I keep you in my heart.

*What did you mean when you said you didn't love me,
Which you whispered when you walked out through the door?
What did you mean when you said it didn't matter,
If we couldn't be together any more?
If we couldn't be together any more?
What did you mean, what did you mean?*

Though you said you didn't love me,
As you walked out through the door,
I sometimes wonder if you miss me,
And hear the music anymore.

*What did you mean when you said you didn't love me,
Which you whispered when you walked out through the door?
What did you mean when you said it didn't matter,
If we couldn't be together any more?
If we couldn't be together any more?
What did you mean, what did you mean?*